CHANGE OF MANAGERS WITH WATER COMPANY

John McGee, president of the Great Western Consolidated Mining company, has accepted the position of general manager of the Water Company of Tonopah, to succeed M. H. Gascoigne, the present general manager, whose resignation, tendered a month ago, takes effect on the first of April.

Mr. McGee arrived here yesterday from San Francisco in company with Col. E. G. Wheeler, president of the company, who is spending the winter on the coast, and began preparation to acquaint himself with the requirements of his new position. The new manager is well known throughout southern Nevada, having been one of the pioneers of the Greenwater boom and arrived in Tonopah when the Greenwater Copper company bought control of the Great Western from Joseph L. Josephs.

Mr. Gascoigne came here seven months ago and during his connection with the company proved himself a most painstaking and courteous executive during the longest continuous cold weather that was experienced on the desert which militated against the company in keeping up an uninterrupted service. Mr. Gascoigne was on the job day and night and was indefatigable in his efforts to meet all complaints and satisfy householders who were temporarily embarrassed by the heavy freeze. Mr. Gascoigne will return to his former home at New Baltimore, Mich., where his wife and little daughter reside. His departure will be deeply regretted.

THREE INCOME TAX MEN FOR NEVADA

Thomas J. Lynch, deputy U. S. internal revenue collector, on arriving this morning from attending the income tax course of training in the collector's office, San Francisco, found his work cut out for instant action by the president having signed the new revenue bill which becomes effective today. This measure is so sweeping and radical in its treatment of taxable subjects that most citizens will be greatly surprised on finding they come under the law. Mr. Lynch will be assisted in the Nevada field by James P. Doyle who will take in the various towns in Inyo county, going as far south as Keeler and then visiting Lincoln and Clark counties, ending with Pioche. Stanley Mitchell who was stationed here for the past month will attend to the western district with headquarters in Fallon and visiting Yerington, Dayton and Washoe. Last year Mr. Lynch had to cover the entire southern country, including Mono and Inyo counties over the border.

As soon as Mr. Lynch learned that the revenue bill had been signed he got busy with the wires and notified every office in his district of the consequences.

Under the rules this year the government agents will not be permitted to make out income tax blanks as they are restricted to assisting them and receiving payments either in part or in full. One improvement provides for a tentative report by which the taxpayer who is not certain of his net earnings can have the privilege of filing a supplementary statement. The collector's office is open daily for all who desire information and attorneys are urged to call and familiarize themselves with the law before the rush begins.

TWO NEW COMPANIES CALLED ON BOARD

The May Tower of the Pioneer district was called today in San Francisco for the first time and sold to the extent of 27,000 shares at 12 cents. The offerings were light and the price represents what was bid recently in New York for the same stock which was put out in Tonopah about two months ago. The second newcomer was the Rosetta of the Divide district, which sold at 12 cents for a total of 38,000 shares. This is regarded as one of the best prospects in the district. James M. Fenwick is the fiscal agent. Total sales of all stocks aggregated 299,400 shares.

OPERATIC STAR IN TONOPAH MOVIES

Richard Morris, who is here with William Ott, and who will take a leading part in the presentation of "Nevada," is one of the best known stars of the film world. In addition to his prominence in the photodrama Mr. Morris ranked as one of the leading soloists of the Metropolitan Opera company. After studying three years in Italy Mr. Morris traveled for three seasons in this country playing and singing the accepted tenor roles in the lighter grand current light operas. His first dramatic engagement was with the Booth-Modjeska company and this was followed by contracts with Booth, Barrett, Modjeska, Lawrence Barrett, Minna Gale and others. On termination of these engagements he returned to music and, from 1906 to 1909 sang in London where his voice became very much impaired and finally gave out. To escape the foggy, smoky atmosphere Mr. Morris returned to America and played for five years with Lubin in Philadelphia, under Lloyd Carleton, president director of the William Ott company. Then followed engagements with Selig, Lackey, the Universal and other companies until he joined the celebrities under the banner of the William Ott Production company that is now initiating Tonopah into the mysteries of the movies.
